Rabbi David Indich

A large attendance of men and women from many walks of life is expected at the Dinner being tendered by Congregation Agudas Israel in honor of their Rabbi, David I. Indich, Sunday, May 17.

Mrs. Joel Essig is reservations chairman.

The dinner marks his 18th anniversary with the Congregation. He assumed the pulpit of Forest Avenue Synagogue in Avondale in 1952. The congregation relocated in Golf Manor in 1957, where a pre-fabricated structure was erected.

Councilman Charles P. Taft, a friend of Rabbi Indich who has attended every major function of the congregation since Rabbi Indich assumed its pulpit 18 years ago; Dr. Morris Mandel, author, educator and lecturer, former teacher of the Rabbi; Rabbi and Mrs. Indich.
