

REMEMBERING RABBI INDICH

On hearing from Howard Mayers about a program to honor Rabbi Indich, I recalled the many times I heard Fr. Ed Brueggeman speak so fondly of him at our family gatherings. In particular, I remember well a simple incident that made an impression on me about 25 years ago.

Father Brueggeman was delivering his acceptance speech for the St. Frances Xavier Medal to a packed house on the Xavier campus. He noticed Rabbi Indich, and turned the spotlight on him and said: "I have to stop just a moment. A dear friend of mine has entered from the rear. It's Rabbi David I. Indich. I will come to him later. David, good to see you!"

It was obvious to all that Father Brueggeman was delighted to see Rabbi Indich, and wanted everyone else to know that a very special person had joined the crowd!
